

Creative use of Technology in the classroom

Course outline Prices & course dates

This course is a hands-on approach to using modern technologies in the classroom such as Interactive Whiteboards (IWBs), audio & video resources, wikis, blogs, podcasts and social media.

This course is one of our successful teaching training packages offering practitioners an interesting programme of activities centred on the creative use of technology. Participants will gain theoretical and practical knowledge from our experienced staff for the duration of the course and it is hoped that you will be able to bring your own wealth of ideas to share in our friendly and informal discussions.

It is strongly recommended that you bring a laptop and a handheld device, such as a small tablet or mobile phone, to the course so that you can participate fully in the practical elements of the programme.

The 10 day course covers the following topics and give one day of theory and and one day of practice for each topic. Practice uses these ideas to plan, resource and deliver a creative teaching experience using technology. This idea is a unique concept and Alpha School is proud of its practical teaching programmes.

The broad topics covered in this course include: Interactive Whiteboards and Presenting, Paper-Based Resources, APPs and Online Resources and Vlogging.
